Principles for the Unmarried to Live By 2 Corinthians 7:32-34

- It is possible to live a fulfilled life while being unmarried.
- There are some principles I will share that will help all unmarried to live a life of wholeness, fulfillment, and satisfaction.
- Principle: an eternal truth when followed, yields a desired result.

- There are four principles that will help us.
- 1. Develop an ear to hear the voice of God (John 10:5).
 - God can only speak to us out of the knowledge we have of Him.
 - The word “hear” is the most important word in the Bible.
 - Everything changes when we hear from God and act upon that word.

- A. Hearing the voice of God is the matter of the will (Psalm 95:7).
- B. God speaks to us primarily through His Word (Dan. 9:1-2; Psalm 119:105, 133).
- C. God can speak through circumstances (Gen. 24:12-26).
- D. God can speak through the gifts of the Holy Spirit (Acts 21:10-14).
- E. God can speak through dreams and visions, authority, and the still small voice of the Holy Spirit.

2. Wait on the Lord (Isa. 40:31).

- A. Focus on God (1 Cor. 7:24).
- B. Find your purpose.
- C. Analyze your circumstance.
- D. Let God do your looking.

3. Work for the Lord (1 Cor. 7:32-33; John 9:4).

- Labor means “effort”, endeavor, give all diligence, be zealous, strive eagerly, exert oneself, and make haste.
- A. There is a warning in Hebrews 4:1.
 - Rest does not mean: (1) Inactivity (2) You do what you want; (3) You are free from duty and responsibility.
 - To Rest means:
 1. The rest of satisfaction and pleasure.
 2. The rest of deliverance and of salvation.
 3. The rest of a new day.
- B. There is another warning (Hebrews 4:2). We can come short of God’s rest.
- C. We can come short of God’s rest because God has sworn that unbelievers shall not enter His rest (Heb. 4:3).
- D. We can come short of God’s rest because the rest of God actually exists.
